Profile

I am currently a 6th-semester Information Technology student at Telkom University, pursuing a Bachelor's Degree with a strong interest in application development, computer networking, and cybersecurity. I have developed solid knowledge in programming, database management, and network configuration through both academic and practical experiences. I am able to work effectively in a team, adapt quickly to new environments, and apply analytical thinking to solve problems. I am eager to expand my experience and contribute my capabilities through an internship opportunity in the IT industry.
